Types of Audit

Q.4.1	2011 - Nov [6] (b)	Descriptive
Discuss the types of audits required under law.		(5 marks)

Answer:

Legally audit is not compulsory for all the types of business organisation or institution. Thus it may be divided in two broad categories:

1. Statutory/Mandatory Audit
2. Voluntary/Independent Audit

1. Statutory Audit: It is an audit which is conducted under the control of law as under:

Enterprise	Governing Statute
Companies	Companies Act, 2013
Co-operative Societies	Multi state Co-operative Societies Act
Banking Co's	Banking Regulation Act, 1949, Banking Laws (Amendment) Act, 2017
Insurance Co's	Insurance Act and Companies Act
Electricity Co's	The Electricity Act, 2003
Public Charitable Trust	Indian Trust Act and also state enactments

2. Voluntary Audit : It is a purely optional audit and at the discretion of the governing body. Examples of enterprises of voluntary natures are individuals, private trust, partnership firm etc.

Answer:

The chief utility of audit lies in reliable financial statements on the basis of which the state of affairs may be easy to understand. Apart from this obvious utility, there are other advantages of audit. Some or all of these are of considerable value even to those enterprises and organisations where audit is not compulsory, these advantages are given below:

- (a) It safeguards the financial interest of persons who are not associated with the management of the entity, whether they are partners or shareholders, bankers, FI's, public at large etc.
- (b) It acts as a moral check on the employees from committing defalcations or embezzlement.
- (c) Audited statements of account are helpful in settling liability for taxes, negotiating loans and for determining the purchase consideration for a business.
- (d) These are also useful for settling trade disputes for higher wages or bonus as well as claims in respect of damage suffered by property, by fire or some other calamity.
- (e) An audit can also help in the detection of wastages and losses to show the different ways by which these might be checked, especially those that occur due to the absence or inadequacy of internal checks or internal control measures.
- (f) Audit ascertains whether the necessary books of account and allied records have been properly kept and helps the client in making good deficiencies or inadequacies in this respect.
- (g) As an appraisal function, audit reviews the existence and operations of various controls in the organisations and reports weaknesses, inadequacies, etc., in them.
- (h) Audited accounts are of great help in the settlement of accounts at the time of admission or death of partner.
- (i) Government may require audited and certified statement before it gives assistance or issues a license for a particular trade.

Q.6.1	2011 - May [3] (a)	Descriptive
Discuss limitations of audit.		(8 marks)

Answer:*Inherent limitations of Audit:

As per SA-200, Overall Objectives of the Independent Auditor and the conduct of Audit in accordance with standards of auditing, the purpose of an audit is to enhance the degree of confidence of intended users in the financial statements. This is achieved by the expression of an opinion by the auditor on whether the financial statements are prepared, in all material respects, in accordance with an applicable financial reporting framework. In the case of most general purpose frameworks, that opinion is on whether the financial statements are presented fairly, in all material respects, or give a true and fair view in accordance with the framework. An audit conducted in accordance with SAs and relevant ethical requirements enables the auditor to form that opinion.

The auditor is not expected to, and cannot, reduce audit risk to zero and cannot therefore obtain absolute assurance that the financial statements are free from material misstatement due to fraud or error. This is because there are inherent limitations of an audit, which result in most of the audit evidence on which the auditor draws conclusions and bases the auditor's opinion being persuasive rather than conclusive.

The inherent limitations of an audit arise from:
1.	The Nature of Financial Reporting	The preparation of financial statements involves judgment by management in applying the requirements of the entity's applicable financial reporting framework to the facts and circumstances of the entity. In addition, many financial statement items involve subjective decisions or assessments or a degree of uncertainty, and there may be a range of acceptable interpretations or judgments that may be made. Consequently, some financial statement items are subject to an inherent level of variability which cannot be eliminated by the application of additional auditing procedures.

2.	Non Co-operation by Management	There is the possibility that management or others may not provide, intentionally or unintentionally, the complete information that is relevant to the preparation and presentation of the financial statements or that has been requested by the auditor. Accordingly, the auditor cannot be certain of the completeness of information, even though the auditor has performed audit procedures to obtain assurance that all relevant information has been obtained.
3.	Fraud may involve sophisticated and carefully organised schemes designed to conceal it	Therefore, audit procedures used to gather audit evidence may be ineffective for detecting an intentional misstatement that involves, for example, collusion to falsify documentation which may cause the auditor to believe that audit evidence is valid when it is not. The auditor is neither trained as nor expected to be an expert in the authentication of documents.
4.	Timeliness of Financial Reporting and the Balance between Benefit and Cost	The matter of difficulty, time, or cost involved is not in itself a valid basis for the auditor to omit an audit procedure for which there is no alternative or to be satisfied with audit evidence that is less than persuasive. Appropriate planning assists in making sufficient time and resources available for the conduct of the audit, Notwithstanding this, the relevance of information, and thereby its value, tends to diminish over time, and there is a balance to be struck between the reliability of information and its cost. There is an expectation by users of financial statements that the auditor will form an opinion on the financial statements within a reasonable period of time and at a reasonable cost, recognising that it is impracticable to address all information that may exist or to pursue every matter exhaustively on the assumption that information is in error or fraudulent until proved otherwise.

5.	Risk of failure of Internal Control	Any system of internal check/control may become ineffective due to collusion among employees for doing fraud and fraud committed by top management itself.
6.	Management's Fraud	Risk of auditor not detecting a material misstatement resulting from management's fraud is greater than that of an employee's fraud because those charged with governance and management are often in a position that assumes their integrity and enables them to override the internal control procedures. For example- if a director of a company orders verbally the assistant not to record the sales made to particular party and to show the goods, sold as inventory, he is overriding the internally established procedure (internal control).

Relationship of Auditing with other Disciplines

Q.7.1	2013 - Nov [1] {C} (b)	Descriptive
Discuss the following:                  The discipline of behavioural science is closely linked with the subject of auditing.                  (5 marks)

Answer:

Auditing is very much a discipline which involves review of various assertions both financial as well as non financial as regards his truthfulness. So audit can be performed in a better way only if the person also possesses a good knowledge about other disciplines.

The discipline of behavioural science is closely linked with subject of auditing. While carrying out audit activity an auditor is required to obtain information and explanations from the client's staff and he has also to interact with the client's staff in analysing the financial figures. So, the knowledge of human behaviour is very essential for an auditor. Thus knowledge of dealing with human being is indeed very essential for an auditor in order to discharge his duties.

Q.9.2	2019 - May [3] (c)	Descriptive
"Independence of mind and independence in appearance are interlinked perspectives of Independence of auditors." Explain.		(3 marks)

Answer:

Independence of Mind and independence in appearance are interlinked perspective of Independence of auditors.

Independence implies that the judgement of a person is not subordinate to the wishes or directions of another person who might have engaged him or to his own self-interest.

Independence is a condition of mind and personal character and should not be confused with the superficial and visible standards of independence, which are imposed by law.

The Code of Ethics for Professional Accountants issued by International Federation of Accountants (IFAC) defines the term Independence as follows.

Independence is :

- Independence of Mind:

The state of mind that permits the provision of an opinion without being affected by influences allowing an individual to act with integrity and exercise objectivity and professional skepticism; and.

• Independence in Appearance :

The avoidance of facts and circumstances that are so significant that a third party would reasonably conclude an auditor's integrity, objectivity or professional skepticism had been compromised.

Q.9.4	2019 - Nov [5] (c)	Descriptive
Briefly explain the policies and procedures of assembling the final audit file on a timely basis after the date of auditor's report under SQC-1. (3 marks)

Answer:

- The auditor shall assemble the audit documentation in an audit file and complete the administration process of assembling the final audit file on a timely basis after the date of the auditor's report.
- SQC 1 "Quality Control for firms that perform Audits and Review of Historical Financial Information, and other Assurance and related services", requires firms to establish policies and procedures for the timely completion of the of the assembly of audit files. An appropriate time limit within which to complete the assembly of the final audit files is ordinarily not more than 60 days after the date of the auditor's report.
- The completion of the assembly of the final audit file after the date of the auditor's report is an administrative process that does not involve the performance of new audit procedures or the drawing of new conclusions. Changes may, however, be made to the audit documentation during the final assembly process, if they are administrative in nature.
- Example of such change include;
  - Deleting or discarding superseded documentation.
  - Sorting, collating and cross referencing working papers.
  - Signing off on completion checklists relating to the file assembly process.
  - Documenting audit evidence that the auditor has obtained, discussed and agreed with the relevant members of the engagement team before the date of the auditor's report.
- After the assembly of the final audit file has been completed, the auditor shall not delete, or discard, audit documentation of any nature before the end of its retention period.

6.34*Scanner CA Inter Group - II Paper - 6

- SQC 1 requires firms to establish policies and procedures for the retention of engagement documentation. The retention period for audit engagements ordinarily is no shorter than 7 years from the date of the auditor's report, or, if later, the date of the group auditor's report.

Discuss the following: (c) 'P' an auditor decides not to send a new audit engagement letter to G Ltd. every year. Whether he is right in his approach? State the circumstances where sending new engagement letter, would be appropriate. (5 marks)

Answer:

As per SA-210, Agreeing the terms of Audit Engagements, the auditor shall assess whether circumstances require the terms of audit engagement to be revised and whether there is a need to remind the entity of the existing terms.

- It is not necessary to issue audit engagement letter each year for repetitive audit. Here 'P' an auditor decides not to send a new engagement letter to G Ltd. every year. So, the approach of the auditor is correct and appropriate.
- The following are the circumstances where issue of the fresh engagement letter becomes mandatory:
  - (i) When it appears that the client has misunderstood the objective and scope of audit. In such case issue of engagement letter becomes necessary.
  - (ii) Where there has been change in management, board or ownership, so that it is felt that it is pertinent to remind them of the engagement terms again.

6.40*Scanner CA Inter Group - II Paper - 6

- (iii) Where any revision by way of addition, deletion or modifications had been contemplated in the engagement letter originally issued.
- (iv) Where significant changes had occurred in nature, volume of the business transactions of the client which warrant the scope and terms of engagement to be altered to be in tune with them.
- (v) Where there has been necessity to modify audit approach to be in line with the pronouncements of ICAI, the Companies Act and the like.

13Acceptance of Change in Engagements

Q.13.1	2009 - Nov [8] (a), RTP	Descriptive
X, a Chartered Accountant was engaged by PQR &amp; Co. Ltd. for auditing their accounts. He sent his letter of engagement to the Board of Directors, which was accepted by the Company. In the course of audit of the company, the auditor was unable to obtain appropriate sufficient audit evidence regarding receivables. The client requested for a change in the terms of engagement. Offer your comments in this regard.		(5 marks)

Answer:

A letter of engagement refers to a letter written by the auditor to his client in order to avoid any misunderstanding between them as to the scope and objective of an audit.

Change in terms of engagement.

In the following circumstances the auditor may think it appropriate to send a new engagement letter to client.

1. Any indication that the client misunderstood the objective and scope of audit.
2. Any revised and special terms of engagement.
3. Any recent change in board of directors and senior management.

4. New legal requirements or pronouncement of ICAI.
5. Significant change in clients business

It should be kept in mind that

1. When the terms of engagement change both the auditor and the client should agree an new terms.
2. The auditor should not agree to change in terms where there is no reasonable justification for doing so.

Thus, as per the case in question, the auditor should not agree to change the terms of engagement as the auditor was unable to obtain sufficient evidence regarding receivable.

Q.13.2	2022 - Nov [2] (b)	Practical
CA P is appointed as an auditor of XYZ Limited for the F.Y. 2021-22. The management of XYZ Limited has requested the auditor to change the terms of original engagement as the company has diversified its business and few new products have been introduced by the company. Can CA P agree to the request made by the management ? Under which circumstances can the client make a request to the auditor for a change in the terms of engagement ? (4 marks)

Answer:*Law:

The management can request the auditor to change the terms of engagement before the completion of the engagement.

In the given situation, XYZ Limited has diversified its business and few new products have also been introduced by the Company which is indicative of significant change in nature or size of the entity's business. In view of above, CA. P can agree to the request made by the management to change the terms of the audit engagement. Therefore, request of Management to change the terms of audit engagement is appropriate.

The management can request changes due to the following:

- A change in circumstances, or
- A misunderstanding as to the nature of the audit, related services, or
- A restriction on the scope of the management.

The auditor shall check the justification for the change in engagement.

If the changes in the engagement are justified then the auditor shall accept the change and obtain the revised engagement letter.

Q.14.4	2020 - Nov [2] (a)	Descriptive
Describe the guiding principles which the auditor should take into account which serves as the safeguards to eliminate the threats to independence.		(4 marks)

Answer:

The Chartered Accountant has a responsibility to remain independent by taking into account the context in which they practice, the threats to independence and the safeguards available to eliminate the threats.

The following are the guiding principles in this regard:

1. For the public to have confidence in the quality of audit, it is essential that auditors should always be and appears to be independent of the entities that they are auditing.
2. In the case of audit, the key fundamental principles are integrity, objectivity and professional skepticism, which necessarily require the auditor to be independent.
3. Before taking on any work, an auditor must conscientiously consider whether it involves threats to his independence.

4. When such threats exist, the auditor should either desist from the task or put in place safeguards that eliminate them.
5. If the auditor is unable to fully implement credible and adequate safeguards, then he must not accept the work.
